

Did Q Anon Curse Roy Potter with Reptilian Eyes?

Yesterday I was watching Roy Potter's latest video and as I was watching him, and he was attacking Q Anon, which as I said before, is a huge error, I noticed that his eyes were very reptilian in appearance.

Now, I know mostly when you see videos on YouTube of people exhibiting reptilian characteristics, they are not actually possessed by the devil; it is caused by some kind of lighting anomaly and I don't pay too much attention to it. But in this case, I am a little concerned because I know Roy has been attacking a true prophet and true prophets have the ability to curse you when you make fun of them or when you attack them. And I just give you one example in the Old Testament: remember when those 42 youths made fun of the prophet Elisha and he cursed them? And when he did two she bears came out of the woods and attacked those 42 youths.

Prophets have powers that most of us do not possess and Q Anon could very well have said to the Lord: 'Lord please affect Roy Potter's next video so as to discredit his anti Q message!' And that is very possibly what happened. Let's play this clip a little bit and you'll see that this is throughout the entire video. Roy Potter's eyes are like slits; they are like lizards eyes, they are like reptiles; and that is a sign of the demonic, either possession or oppression. And so, Roy Potter, my advice to you: look into Q Anon a little more closely. Don't jump the gun! Don't accuse him of things which he is not. He is a good person trying to help us and I recommend for the rest of you to look in to Anti School's videos. He is being much fairer towards Q Anon and he is giving us good analysis. And I watched his video this morning and Q Anon explained that the DEFCON 1 non nuclear warning, which he gave last week, and which set off Roy Potter, that was fulfilled in the Hawaii emergency message that was sent out of the entire state to prepare them for the possibility of a missile attack.

And we all should be prepared. I remember when I was in high school, the basement of our school was designated as a Civil Defense Center, and we have gone away from that but the situation in the world is very serious at the moment. I mean, Korea is threatening us with nukes.

The true message of that DEFCON1 was the second part of the message which was 'non-nuclear' and we should be thankful that Donald Trump was telling us he won't attack Korea with nuclear weapons. But the warning, which was fulfilled in Hawaii, was that we should be prepared for some kind of attack from North Korea or possibly other nuclear powers. And we are not immune from such attacks. I realize that worries former military people like Roy Potter but nonetheless, Q Anon is giving us true prophecy; and it's very possible that our Lord, even if what Roy Potter is showing with his eyes is not a true demonic possession, nevertheless is warning Roy and the rest of us that we should listen to Q Anon rather than to denigrate him. It's very dangerous to oppose God's true prophets.

And since my last video I've had quite a few of you support me financially and I want thank Denise in California; Robert in North Carolina; Theodore in Wisconsin, thank you Theodore. And I got a note from Ian, he donated, and he said: 'Hey, I was wondering if it is okay for Christians to go ghost hunting?' Well Ian, I would recommend, 'no'. There are two kinds of spirits: good spirits, called angels, and evil spirits, called demons. You cannot call in a good spirit but you can call in a demon. So when you go looking for ghosts and a ghost appears, that will be a demon. Or, if you play with Ouija boards; the same thing, the spirits that you contact will be evil spirits and they are out to do you harm. So Ian, I would stay away from that. Roy Potter, I would advise you to be a little more respectful of Q Anon; he is a true prophet.
