

Amazing Prophecy: Pope Loses! God & Mary Win!

Congratulations to Germany! You defeated Argentina in the 2014 World Cup and just as I suggested in my last video, this turned out to be a very important prophecy from Almighty God considering our current Pope, Pope Francis. Germany did indeed signify a true Pope, Pope Benedict, and Argentina, unfortunately, signified a False Prophet and that would be Pope Francis.

Now, of course I'm not going to let one sporting event determine who I consider to be the False Prophet, however, I think history is going to show that this was a very important prophecy from Almighty God. I suggested in my last video that the final score might be 3-2 because that would indicate God over man and the final score was one to nothing, however, one of my subscribers, poefdaddy, pointed out to me that the German team wore 3 stars and the Argentina team wore 2 stars signifying the number of previous World Championships each team had achieved so that was very important.

It's also very significant that the game was decided at the 112:21 minute mark.

Notice that that there are 3 numbers followed by 2 numbers. Also, please note there are three 1's and two 2's, however, that's not the most significant part of this prophecy. First of all, the winning goal was scored in overtime, in other words, in the End Times, and who scored this winning goal for Germany? Well his name happened to be Mario Gotze.

What is significant, of course, is that Mario is derived from Mary and, as I have said all along, Mary's Rosary is the weapon Jesus will use to defeat the Antichrist. And what does Gotze mean in German? Well, it's derived from the word Gott, G,O, T, T and Gott means God. No, I am not kidding. This is a very significant prophecy from Almighty God and I think we are going to see this become much more clearer in the weeks and months ahead.
