

666 Logo Reveals Evil Takeover of Vatican

Would you believe the Vatican has come up with another evil, satanic logo which they are promoting for next year's world meeting of families in Dublin, Ireland? And in the last couple of years here on YouTube, I have had to point out dozens of very evil designs coming out of the Vatican ever since Pope Francis took over; ever since the 'Holy City has begun to be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles'. And I have been doing this, as I say, for at least a couple years and I want to show you a couple that I pointed out to you before: this is for the 'Year of Mercy'. Maybe you remember this one?

According to the Vatican, this is Jesus carrying Adam, but there is one problem, that's not an Adam, that's an Eve that he is carrying! In other words, this is a promotion of transgenderism.

And a couple of years ago they had a world meeting of families in Philadelphia and I showed you, at that time, this design and if you complete these shapes in the background, I mean, they've hidden it fairly well, this is a promotion of homosexuality.

All kinds of evils have taken over the Roman Catholic Church because it is being trampled under by the Gentiles, as prophesied in Revelation 11:2.

Here is the newest one, this is called 'Amoris', and they are having a world meeting of families, as I say, next year in Dublin. And if I focus in maybe a little bit you can see what this 'O' of 'Amoris' depicts; that is an evil design of three sixes. Now, having a cross on top of the world is not that unusual, and in fact, it would be Christian in appearance; but not when you have the world formed by three sixes. Are they trying to tell us that the Catholic Church has been taken over by the Antichrist, as Mary prophesied at La Salette?

Amoris

Let's talk Family! Let's be Family!

Now, here's the close-up of this image so you can see what I'm talking about:

the three sixes are pretty obvious and I've outlined it for you. Also, the cross is miniscule in size; they are de-emphasizing the cross. Instead, they are emphasizing Satan's 666 planet and that's because they have found out, just like the secular world, that if you want to be successful, you have to pay homage to the Lord of this World. And that's not unusual in the secular world.

For example, I'll give you another example, this is basically the same image, three sixes, and I'm sure you recognize that logo.

And actually, that's more subtle than what the Vatican came up with. And this is better, an example what they should do.

Why can't they have a symbol in which the Cross is dominant, in which the cross is over the world? That would be perfectly all right; I could accept that.

What they are using for their image (this is their image again) this is called a triskele; it's thousands of years old. It's based on a pagan symbol or logo and I'll show you some other examples: I got this off of Google Images.

There's lots of different ways that you can show a triskele or a triskelion, it's called. In other words, it's got three different legs or three different arms. If it has four arms it's called a swastika; if it has two arms it's called a yin yang. But all three are pagan and, as I say, this is the Vatican version. This they are promoting heavily for their next year's world meeting of families and to me it's pretty obvious, isn't it to you, that those are three sixes? How come it isn't obvious to the people in the Vatican? How can they approve this kind of an image? Can't they see it? I mean this is really in your face. Maybe they want it to be in your face, or maybe someone in the Vatican is crying out for help. Maybe they're crying out saying, we have been taken over by Satan! Help us out. Any way, that's my message for today.
