

How Accurate is the Prophecy Text in Your Bible?

This morning my Web Manager in Australia sent me an interesting email. She asked me if I had ever heard of the Queen James Bible. Well, I had to look it up because I'd vaguely remembered it and it seems that three or four years ago a group of homosexuals decided they wanted a "gay friendly Bible". In other words, they wanted to change or modify or remove from the Bible any references that showed God's displeasure with homosexuality. They particularly don't like where Saint Paul says "the effeminate have no place in the Kingdom of heaven."

The point for this program is that you must also be very careful and discriminating in choosing your Bible especially as far as End Times prophecy goes. There are many, many false translations out there and they lead you astray and many people are being led astray. In fact, I have yet to find any translation published after 1959 which you can trust; they have all been corrupted. This is very serious.

And now I thought I would go through a series of Bibles just to give you an example of what to expect and what to look for to see if your Bible is correct, whether you can trust it or not. And the first Bible I want to look at is my mother's old King James Bible and as you can see it's in very well worn, I don't really reference this anymore. She was raised, I believe, Methodist but she converted to Catholicism when we were little children and this is a very interesting translation of Genesis 3:15. This is the benchmark for me to judge all Bibles as far as the accuracy of their End Times translation. This KJV says, Genesis 3:15, "And I will put enmity between thee and the woman and between thy seed and her seed," so far so good, "it shall bruise thy head and thou shall bruise his heel." Well, that is really odd because if they are trying to say that Jesus is going to crush the head of the serpent why would they refer to him as "it"? "It shall crush thy head."

Now, the newer King James have corrected that and they say "he shall crush thy head", but even then, that is a gross error because it is the woman who will crush the head of the serpent. God says "I will put enmity between thee and the woman". He doesn't say "between thee and the offspring of the woman" or "the seed of the woman" and therefore it must be "the woman who crushes the head of the serpent".

This past weekend I went to a garage sale and I picked up a beautiful Bible and when you go to garage sales, or even used bookstores, which is the only place, as I say, you're going to find accurate translations these days, ask if they have a Bible because this one I had to ask for and she brought out this Bible and this is a beautiful edition, better than any that I have and I was so pleased I found this but, as I say, you have to ask. They don't think Bibles will sell and probably, for the most part, they are right and I had never heard of this particular translation. This is called the Holy Trinity Edition.

This is a Catholic Bible and of course the first thing I did was check Genesis 3:15. "And the Lord God said to the serpent: because thou has done this thing thou art cursed among all cattle and beast of the earth, upon thy breast shall thou go." Now the King James says "belly" instead of "breast". I think "belly" is probably a little better but this is a case where it's not that important. Either one is correct, "...and earth shall thou eat all the days of thy life. I will put enmities between thee and the woman and thy seed and her seed. She shall crush thy head and thou shall lie in wait for her heel." That is 100 per cent accurate. If your Bible does not say that, they are leading you astray just like the Queen James people want to lead you astray.

Now, this is the Bible I usually reference. This is my own Catholic Douay Rheims Bible. I won't read it for you because it's basically the same as I just read. This is the one I use for all of my videos for the most part. Once in a while I do reference the King James and other versions because the translations are a little better, not necessary more accurate, but maybe a little easier to understand.

The next Bible I am going to show you is supposedly a Catholic Bible; this is the New International Version, "The Knowing Jesus Study Bible". This is a bad translation. If you have one of these you might just as well throw it out. "And I will put enmity between you and the woman and between your offspring and hers," I don't like that word "offspring", seed is much better, "he will crush your head and you will strike his heel." No, it is SHE who is going to crush the head of the serpent.

Next, this is an older edition, The Holy Bible, and I have this mainly for reference. This was published in 1959 by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. It has an imprimatur from Francis Cardinal Spellman. You would think that this is correct; it is not! "I will put enmity between you and the woman, between your seed and her seed, he shall crush your head and you shall lie in wait for his heel." This shows you that even back in 1959, the Catholic Church had already adopted the King James erroneous translation of that passage.

Now here's another modern one. This is "Reading God's Word". This is not really a Bible; these are the official readings in the Catholic Church and I was alerted to it this year when I heard this bad translation. I couldn't believe it! I did a program on it and many people told me this bad translation has been in the Catholic Church for many years and evidently since 1959. "I will put enmity between you and the woman and between your offspring and hers. He will strike at your head while you strike at his heel." This is what we have been subjected to in the Catholic Church ever since 1959. It's no wonder both Catholics and Protestants do not understand End Times Bible prophecy.

This next is the "Good News Bible". I believe we are going to find the same thing here. "I will make you and the woman hate each other," okay this is a more modern translation, they've taken out the "thees" and "thous", "her offspring and yours will always be enemies." I don't like that word "offspring". Seed is better, "her offspring will crush your head and you will bite their heel." Well, actually that is a little better. It's kind of neutral. It doesn't tell you that the woman is going to do the crushing, it says the "offspring will do the crushing" but that is not true. The offspring represents the Remnant Church. By the way, the offspring or the seed does not represent Jesus. In fact you will find some of my previous videos in which I say that the seed includes Jesus which I have now understood is NOT true. The seed which "crushes the seed of the serpent," in other words the Church of the Antichrist, the One World Government System, will be the Remnant Catholic Church, in other words, WE will defeat the One World System.

And now, let's take a look at the Good News translation. This is supposedly a Catholic edition. Well, we'll find out. Genesis 3:15, "I will make you and the woman hate each other, her offspring and yours will always be enemies. Her offspring will crush your head and you will bite her offspring's heel." Again, that's kind of neutralized. They've taken the onus out of having "he crushing the head of the serpent" but they don't quite say that it is the woman who is going to crush the head of the serpent.

Here's the New American Bible, let's see what it says: "I will put enmity between you and the woman and between your offspring and hers. He will strike at your head while you strike at his heel." Now I want to show why this is not only a bad translation but it is also illogical to say that "he will crush the head of the serpent". Remember the enmity is between the woman and the serpent. That whole passage is about degrading the serpent and insulting the serpent. God says the serpent is cursed: on your belly shall you crawl. You shall eat dirt and you will be defeated by a woman. That is consistent. It would not be consistent to say: you will crawl on your belly, you will eat dirt but then you will become so great that it will take Jesus Christ to defeat you. That is not consistent.

And I know some of you will say that I am degrading Jesus when I say this, that I'm elevating Mary above Jesus. That is completely incorrect because Jesus IS found in Genesis 3:15: He is the "I". "I will put enmity between you and the woman." Jesus and the Father are the same. He is the One who is the Commander in Chief of this End Times battle; Mary is His Five Star General. In other words, it would not make sense for Jesus to say "I will put enmity between you and the woman and he will crush your head" speaking about himself. He would say "I will put enmity between you and the woman but I will crush your head". The only correct translation is "she, the woman, will defeat Satan and we, her seed, will defeat the seed of Satan".

Now Genesis 3:15 is not the only way that I judge translations of the End Times; for example, Zachariah 12:2 says that "Jerusalem will be a lintel of surfeiting to her nations roundabout". The King James Version says "Jerusalem will be a cup of trembling." And, in fact, Paul Begley quoted this on one of his recent programs. He is very much confused by the King James translation. He thinks that Zachariah is saying Jerusalem will cause the nations roundabout to tremble. That is incorrect. The Douay Rheims Bible is correct: "Jerusalem will be a lintel of surfeiting," that is "a doorway to excess, a doorway to overindulgence". Jerusalem and Israel will lose this upcoming war in the Middle East. The upcoming war is the Daniel 9 War, not the Ezekiel 38 war. Paul Begley and most Protestants are very confused because the King James Version gives Israel, and those who read that version, unnecessary hope that Israel will win this upcoming war and that is not correct.

Another way to test whether your Bible is accurate, as far as its End Times prophecy goes, is to look at Matthew 24:28. The translation should be "Where the body is there will the eagles be gathered together". Some translations say "Where the corpses are the vultures will be gathered together" or "where the carcasses are". Those are incorrect. I have said here on this program many times that the "body" in the End Times is our Lord, Jesus Christ and he is talking about his return at Armageddon. The groups that are with him are eagles, not vultures, because they represent the three armies who will fight with Him at Armageddon and join with him during the Millennium and those are the Raptured Protestants, the Protected Catholics and the Holy Martyrs.

Another very good test to find out whether your Bible is accurate or not is to count the number of times the word "blessed" is found in the book of Revelation. You should find that word a total of seven times, four times in chapters 6- 20. Those four times refer to the four groups who will reign with Jesus during the Millennium: the Raptured Protestants, the Protected Catholics, the Holy Martyrs, and the Converted Jews. Now here's a translation which I have: this is the Navarre Bible but it is also inaccurate. It's a relatively new, Catholic translation. They have put 8 "blesseds" in the book of Revelation, 5 in the End Time chapters, 6-20.

Thus they violate Saint John's first rule and that is: do not add or subtract to the words in these pages. Why does John say that? He does not say that because you cannot interpret the book of Revelation. In fact you MUST interpret the book of Revelation. Instead, he is talking about numerology. That's why he uses a mathematical term "adding and subtracting". The people who translated this Navarre Bible, they added one "blessed" and that totally fouls up the numerology.

So, in conclusion, I actually do see one ray of light in all of these bad translations, from the Queen James Bible to bad translations of the End Times passages: they are sure signs that we are in the End Times, that the great punishments from Almighty God are about to fall upon us and Jesus is about to return. He said the "End Times would be as in the days of Lot" so we should not be surprised at these bad translations. They tell us that we must get prepared, the time is extremely short.
