

Q Anon: Terrible May for Pope! WHICH POPE?

This past week, Q Anon gave us quite a few posts about our Pope and the Catholic Church and some of his information was quite sketchy; Q does not show much knowledge of the Catholic Church and quite a few of you my subscribers asked me to respond so I thought I would do this video. Today is Sunday, Divine Mercy

Sunday, the Sunday after Easter and here's what Q posted on April the 3rd. This was a response to one of the Anons who asked him: 'P equals Pope'? Q Anon has mentioned 'P' quite often in his postings and he has never explained who he is talking about, and there's been a lot of speculation: is he talking about the Pope? Is he talking about Vice President Pence? Is he talking about Vladimir Putin?

And up until now, Q has never really let us know who he is talking about. But he responded to this Anon by mentioning Pope Francis, at least that's who we assume he is talking about. Here's what he said; 'Pope (and he's got that in brackets) will be having a terrible May.' That would not be 'Pence' and that would not be 'Putin'. So now, I think we can determine that whenever Q talks about 'P' he is talking about the Pope. When I read that, I immediately said: 'which Pope?', because we do have a true Pope. If he is talking about Pope Francis and if Pope Francis is the False Prophet, there's only one terrible thing that happens to Pope Francis: he will be cast alive into hell, according to Bible prophecy. However, there is a fake thing that happens to the False Prophet which is a false flag, because Scripture says that the Antichrist suffers a head wound. But if you understand that prophecy, it occurs to his number one head, who would be the False Prophet. Don't listen to the other false prophets on YouTube who say that the Antichrist personally will suffer a head wound, because that is not correct.

But Q could also be talking about Pope Benedict. In Catholic prophecy, in the Third Secret of Fátima, the 'Bishop dressed in white', about whom the seers say, 'We thought he was the Pope', is murdered. So that leads us to the question: 'Where does Q Anon get his information from? Does he get it from supernatural sources?' For example, one of my subscribers suggested that Q is getting information from the Blessed Virgin Mary; and that would not be the first time. Remember, she appeared also to George Washington. But, I suspect that Q is getting his information, in this case, from the NSA, because of what he says next: 'Those who backed him will be pushed into the light'. That might be an embarrassment to Pope Francis because we know from WikiLeaks who backed him: John Podesta, Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama. And it's interesting that what Q is also saying here is when they will be indicted: not until May. A lot of you think they will be indicted in April, but not according to what Q is saying here.

And he continues this post by saying: 'Dark to Light. Truth (and he signs it) Q.' As I say, this was posted on April the 3rd. And now, I want to read his posting on April the 4th because you might get a skewed attitude towards the Catholic Church from this posting. He says: 'List the estimated wealth of religious organizations. Billions.' He mentions the Vatican Bank, '229 billion dollars'. Well, you have to understand that the wealth of the Vatican is in its art. If they take out loans, and a little bit further on in this, I'll read what he says here: '1832 (this is almost 200 years ago) the Rothschild's made a loan to the Holy See', and I'm sure the Vatican put up their artwork as collateral. So it's not surprising that their art collection is worth 229 billion dollars. Michelangelo's 'Pietà alone would be worth several billion, and that's not an exaggeration. A Saudi prince; he would be happy to buy the Pieta and put it in his palace, but then you would not be able to see it. The Vatican artwork belongs to the poor. You can't sell it and give it to the poor. If you sold it to Saudi princes, it would not be available to the poor. You're not helping the poor by taking their artwork away from them and giving it to somebody else.

Now I'll show you what I mean; here's what the Vatican says as far as viewing the artwork, and this is right off their website: 'The St. Peter's Basilica entrance ticket is completely free.' Do you think the Saudis would let you view the Pieta for free? I don't think so! 'It is possible to avoid the queue at the entrance of the church by booking a guided tour of the Basilica. This allows for privileged entry or a guided tour of the Vatican Museums, the Sistine Chapel, St. Peter's Basilica' Can you imagine how much Saudi Arabia would pay for the Sistine Chapel? The entire ceiling is a magnificent fresco by Michelangelo. All the great artists of the day donated their work to the Vatican. That's why Saint Peters is such a beautiful building; just look at this background. We don't have anything close to that here in the United States. We don't have an artist who could paint the toenail of Michelangelo! We don't produce art anymore. That's why the Vatican art is worth billions. And the rich would love to have you sell the Vatican art so they could own it.

If you go to England, and you visit the countryside today, you will see all the ruins of beautiful churches, cathedrals and monasteries. It looks as if they had a war 500 years ago, and in a way, they did. Henry VIII and all of his cronies, all the noblemen, stole the artwork in the Catholic churches of that time; all of the jewellery, and the paintings and the tapestries; all that had been donated by the poor and the rich were jealous: they stole all of it and they put it in their castles. That's exactly what people want to do today: they want to steal the beautiful artwork of the Vatican and then the Catholic Church. So I say: 'Why don't you rich people give your money to the poor?' You know, if you go to France today, even the small towns, the focus of the town is the beautiful Cathedral; as tourist that's what you will want to visit. We don't have anything close to that in this country. What happens when you give the rich, the elite and the bankers all of your money? What do they build? They don't build cathedrals or beautiful art; they build shiny skyscrapers with glass walls; they like to build huge banks. You tell me: which gives greater glory to Almighty God, a glass skyscraper or a beautiful cathedral? Don't try to steal the money from the Vatican or you'll be joining the likes of Henry VIII and his noblemen of 500 years ago.

