

Hidden Prophecy in LeBron James #23 Torn Jersey

Yesterday one of my subscribers, John B, put a comment on one of my videos pointing out that in the very first NBA game of the season, that was, I believe, day before yesterday, the Cleveland Cavaliers player, LeBron James, split open his jersey. His jersey number is 23 and it was very clear it split right down the middle of the back separating the number 2 from the number 3. And of course, you my subscribers know very well that 2 before 3 or 2 over 3 is the fraction  $2/3$  and that yields the decimal 666 which is the number of the Antichrist. I am sure this is not accidental; this was a message from our Lord. He chose the opening day of the season for His sign because that would be the most covered in the media. He chose the number one player in the world and that would be LeBron James; he's the most famous. And he split the number right down the middle.

And I've been telling you all along that Almighty God does use sporting events to give us messages. In fact, just last month, Almighty God pointed out the number 23 when another Cleveland team, the baseball Indians, lost their 23rd game in a series: they had won 22 games in a row. That was not accidental either; and I told you at the time it wasn't. I know a lot of people make fun of me but I only report what I see; that's my job as a co prophet. Now I want to show you this image because it is very fascinating.

As you can see, it's the number 23 split right in half. I think Nike's got to have some answers for that, I suppose. The NBA just switched from Adidas to Nike. And another thing, LeBron James is known as 'King James'; that's his nickname.

So I got to looking at this picture again and I was thinking about the King James Bible and James 23. Maybe that refers to Saint James, chapter 2, verse number 3 in the King James

Bible. Would you believe chapter 2, verse number 3, in the King James Bible talks about 'gay clothing'? I kid you not! I am going to read this for you. This is my King James Bible even though I usually use the Douay Rheims, which I believe is more accurate. And here is the message in Saint James chapter 2, verse number 3: 'And ye have respect to him that wears gay clothing and say unto Him sit thou here in a good place and say to the poor stand down...' Now, here God is giving us several very important messages in this prophecy. Number 1, we are in the End Times: that's what the 2 over 3 stands for: it stands for 666.

Number 2, in these End Times, homosexuality will be a huge problem as Almighty God Himself prophesied when he said that in the End Times (this is Jesus speaking) it would be 'as in the days of Lot.' None of this is accidental. In fact, King James himself was known to be a homosexual. So that's my message for today; and I would ask for you my subscribers to give me your input because you always have a lot to offer and my thanks to John B for the heads up.
