

My YouTube Channel Attacked, New Backup Plan!

This will be just a very brief test video because just a few weeks ago I bought a new iPhone as an emergency backup because I have anticipated that the Illuminati will try to remove my channel from YouTube. In fact just this past weekend they succeeded in demonetizing a half dozen of my false flag videos. Now since then, I noticed this morning that YouTube has restored the monetization on some of those videos, however I do not trust the Illuminati at all. I believe they will try to remove my channel, in which case I will have to make lesser quality videos like this on my iPhone, and I will have to upload them to my webpage, and I ask you to write that name down thirdeaglemedia.com just in case of that emergency.

And I also would like to ask for your financial assistance, because my iPhone bill is going to be double what my previous phone bill has been, and adding bandwidth to my web page is also going to be very expensive. Both of these are necessary because I ensure that all true prophecy channels will be removed from YouTube. You will only be left with the false prophets, and there are a lot of them, but you won't be able to check anything on YouTube once the true prophets are removed.

And in conclusion, let me wish all of you a happy Thanksgiving.