

MESSAGE TO PRIESTS

6/9/2020

In these times of confusion and chaos it is comforting to know that we have Mother Church to lean on in regards to truth and its dogmas passed down for generations, teaching people not only the way to receive Jesus in Holy Communion but trust in the Lord's Divine Providence.

Those of us who have taken vows to receive Jesus worthily on our tongue know that if our hands are not consecrated they are not worthy to receive our Lord. Through Holy Scripture, holy tradition and magisterium we have Divine Providence set before us to follow the Church that Jesus Christ Himself founded.

In His Church we know He also gives us canon law to protect us from heresy, apostasy and sin in regards to the hierarchy and what is taught from the pulpit. We should thank God that canon law tells us that no priest can forbid to place the Holy Eucharist, which is the body, blood, soul and Divinity of Jesus, on our tongue. In actuality, giving communion in the hand is one of the most irreverent ways to handle the precious Sacrament, because pieces of Jesus can be broken off and fall onto the floor when it's placed on someone's hand.

Any good priest knows that when you give communion on the tongue and the hand placement is in proper form with palm down and the back of the hand up, it's very unlikely to make contact with the fingers of the priest to the recipient's tongue. It's a beautiful movement that the priests know how to do properly if taught in comparison to plopping the Blessed Sacrament onto someone's hand when the back of the priests fingers can touch that hand every time and contaminating each other for sure.

So you see, this directive of not giving communion on the tongue may specifically come from a bishop or a higher cleric in the diocese, but in reality the foundation is from the pits of hell for only the devil would prevent the Lord's Blessed Sacrament to be given in a worthy way which is always on the tongue and especially according to Church law.

If the Catholic Church is to survive on this Earth and to remain the beacon of Truth and Faith for the entire world, it cannot succumb to politics, fear and heresy. Mother Church must stay true to her foundation in Christ to lead the faithful to heaven and not on the wide path to hell.

To not receive the Blessed Sacrament in the most reverent manner would be a great error indeed and will be written down in the annals of history for all to see that these times were forsaken by the very leaders of the Church that were meant to hold up the truth for all.

God bless you and Mary keep you and may the truth of Christ not only live in your heart but be served openly for the faithful who come to you for faithful leadership.
